DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed on 7/25/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's arguments are not reflected in the claim language as presented. Examiner respectfully disagrees that the Su et al.'572 reference does not teach a "null and a single peak" because as the Applicant points out the reference teaches a null and two peaks, thereby including two single peaks. The current claim language uses the open term "comprising" thereby not excluding more than a peak sensitivity profile. With respect to the uneven counter rotational coils not being taught by Su et al.'572, Applicant's attention is invited to the embodiment of Figure 5 (see in particular col. 9, lines 31-34). On these grounds the rejection is maintained. However, a non-final action is issued to address the double patenting rejections.

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claims 1-11 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-25 of copending

Application No. 10/283,213 (as was presented in PGPUBs 20030114748). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they represent alternate variations and groupings.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

4. Claims 1-11 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-25 of copending Application No. 10/283,292 (as was presented in PGPUBs 20030109782). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they represent alternate variations and groupings.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

5. Claims 1-11 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-25 of copending Application No. 09/935,705 (as was presented in PGPUBs 20020013526). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they represent alternate variations and groupings.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

7. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US Patent No. 6,493,572 to Su et al.'572.

Su et al.'572 disclose an inherently de-coupled sandwiched solenoidal array coil. The array contains a first coil having a null B₁ point and a quasi one peak sensitivity profile, and a second coil oriented with respect to the first coil in a manner that reduces coupling. Several orientations of coils are presented, including overlapping and cascading configurations. The first coil has two sections in which the sections have a different number of turns and the second section has a counter rotational orientation with respect to the first section (column 3, lines 47-65; column 6, lines 38-67; column 7, lines 1-57; column 8, lines 1-15 and 55-67; column 9, lines 4-43; figures 1-8).

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Arakawa et al.'836 teach a coil array including solenoidal coils with what appears to be counter rotational orientation in Figure 4A.
